

TRAINING 'Effective communication'

Purpose

The goal of this training is to improve the communication style of employees, so they can have more impact. This helps employees gain insight into their own communication style and that of others. After the effective communication training, employees can avoid their own pitfalls more easily and work together in a more pleasant way.

Content

This is a multi-day training. Through tests, you learn about your communication preferences. You learn what miscommunication is and how to recognise it. You also learn how to guide a conversation and what internal and external communication mean. We practise this with real-life examples and role play. The topics below can be included in the training. This is agreed in consultation with the company.

Practical information

- Target group: teams and departments where internal and external communication is important
- Group size: 4 - 8 participants
- Duration: 5 half-day sessions, divided over approx. 3 months
- Location: In-company or at an MEPD location
- A+O Metalektro affiliated companies are entitled to subsidies for this training.

Want to know more about our other trainings and workshops? Check www.mepd.nl/trainingen/ or contact info@mepd.nl